PREFACE.

We can but anticipate that this our fourth volume will be received by our patrons and a generous public as well as those that have preceded it.

As in the past, the aim of this Association of breeders has been to promote the best interests of those engaged in fine woolled sheep husbandry, and particularly of Black Top Spanish Merinos. During the past few years our vocation has not been as prosperous as heretofore, and many breeders have been somewhat careless; so that, for these reasons, and others, this volume has been delayed somewhat. However we have not allowed the depression in business to lower the standard of our publications. We aim to only admit pedigrees that are clear. We again appeal to breeders asking their co-operation and assistance in making a trustworthy register. By using the same clear type, fine heavy calendered paper, and substantial binding in this volume as in our former books, we believe that in arrangement of pedigrees and transfer lists, as well as the mechanical construction of our register, we have few if any superiors.

Within the past few months some things indicate a renewed interest in sheep husbandry. Should we during the next season have a normal amount of rainfall, and any marked improvement in other lines of business, those engaged in breeding sheep may see a brighter future before them.

The compiler is anxious that patrons should give the Constitution and By-Laws or Rules, (published elsewhere in this volume,) careful study, as it is evident from correspondence that they are neglected by many breeders, causing waste of valuable time and considerable annoyance to the officers of the society.

All will remember that to return pedigrees to the Secretary before the lambs are over ten months old is less expensive than when the lambs are older, and be governed accordingly.

No favors inconsistent with the rules of the Association can be expected from the Secretary, who is sworn to conduct the business of the society in accordance with the published regulations of the Association and the corporate law of the State. Our rules have been made after careful deliberation and some years of experience, and we believe subserve the purpose for which they were devised.

With a register number assigned to each pedigree, these numbers running consecutively, and flocks arranged alphabetically as to names of owners, any considerate person should, after a moment's thought, know that register numbers cannot be given to a pedigree until entries to a volume close. Yet is our practice not preferable to assigning register numbers as pedigrees are received, and having as a result pedigrees of different breeders scattered throughout the volume at random?

As the editorial labor on a work of this kind is not the most pleasant task, and realizing that we cannot hope to please all, we ask your indulgence for all errors and imperfections and close our introductory remarks to our fourth volume.
